

Full-time Research Project Coordinator

If you are passionate about empowering students with significant disabilities to succeed, this is the job for you. We are hiring a full-time project coordinator to lead Nonspeaking Readers, a research study that will test the effectiveness of two early reading programs designed for students with disabilities who have limited or no speech. Read the full description and apply at go.osu.edu/NSR by May 15.

Key qualifications:

- Experience working with children with developmental disabilities who have limited speech.
- Experience working in schools or a research setting.
- Strong oral and written communication skills.
- Reliable transportation to/from the Crane Center and local schools.

Compensation:

Annual salary of $53,800 plus full OSU benefits

Key Perks:

Free classes at OSU!

Location:

Crane Center for Early Childhood Research and Policy

Time Frame:

This 1-year position will begin in Summer 2023 and end in Summer 2024. If desired, there often are opportunities at the Crane Center to continue employment on other research projects.

Questions?

Please reach out to Dr. Matt Brock at 614-688-1421 or brock.184@osu.edu